

COURTS MAY BE ASKED TO HALT SPOILS SYSTEM

Harding's Summary Discharge of 25 Bureau Chiefs Causes Crisis
CIVIL SERVICE IS DOOMED

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—A crisis has come in the everlasting struggle between civil service and the "spoils system."
When Attorney General Daugherty told the house committee on appropriations that he frankly favored filling government offices with political appointees instead of with civil service employees and argued that the political selections were the more efficient, very little significance was attached to his observations which were regarded for the moment as more or less academic.
Now, however, the biggest sensation has developed in the government service since the days when a disappointed office-seeker assassinated President Garfield and gave rise to the civil service system of today.
Torn on every side by the demands of office-seekers who served the Republican party in the 1920 campaign and who are eager to serve it even more energetically in the congressional campaign of 1922, President Harding has yielded at last to the importunities of his political associates.
25 ARE DISCHARGED
The act fell first on the heads of 25 bureau chiefs and subordinate officials in the government's biggest establishment—the bureau of printing and engraving where the stamps, paper money and government bonds are made. Without a word of warning, without a chance to defend themselves, these officials, many of whom have been in the bureau since boyhood days, many of whom have never voted or affiliated with political parties, were cast aside and under the law are ineligible for government service again.
The whole government personnel is disturbed. Hints are given that the internal revenue service and the customs service, the prohibition enforcement staff and other bureaus which like that of engraving and printing come under the treasury department, are to be the victims of a political house cleaning.
But it is the upheaval in the bureau of printing and engraving which has for the moment focused everybody's attention on the drive being made to abolish the politically obnoxious phases of the civil service system. So far as is known, President Harding's order summarily dismissing the 25 men in the engraving bureau is unprecedented. Senator Caraway of Arkansas says its plainly illegal and when it was pointed out to him that Mr. Harding had not acted until Attorney General Daugherty had declared the step was within the president's authority, Mr. Caraway said: "The attorney general is a political associate of the president and would probably tell him it was all right to suspend the constitution if he desired to do so."
Members of congress are curious to know what led the president to dismiss so many men in the bureau of printing and engraving and Mr. Caraway's resolution demanding an investigation will probably draw forth some further statements from the administration.
The reason given publicly by the administration is inefficiency and the interest of the service. A test case may develop in the courts to discover what the rights of a government employee really are as against an executive order of the president. It is true that a presidential order superseding most everything and giving an executive the right to appoint persons to positions inside the civil service without examination and he has the right to abolish jobs which were previously covered by civil service. The president's technical right to take both steps at once—abolishing positions and appointing new men to vacancies by executive order is admitted by most government lawyers.
But there is considerable doubt as to whether a president has the right to remove without furnishing evidence of the charges existing against a government employee. If he has, the whole civil service system, it is contended, rests wholly on the whim of a president. The tendency in congress has recently been in the direction of abolishing civil service requirements wherever it was possible to do so. The post office laws have been changed so as to enable the government to choose any one of the first three who pass the examination, thus permitting the president to ignore the highest man if he is a Democrat or even a Republican without political influence. Altogether the civil service system is fighting feebly for its life.

WANTS $7,000,000 FOR MUSCLE SHOALS WORK

Washington—Immediate appropriation of $7,000,000 to prosecute work on the Wilson dam, Muscle Shoals, was urged by Chairman Norris to the senate agricultural committee Tuesday.

UNCLE SAM RENEWS WAR ON DEMON RUM

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—Uncle Sam's most determined effort to throttle the demon rum will be started within a week—immediately after a conference of the general prohibition chiefs if staff—it was learned Tuesday.
This war council, composed of Commissioner Roy A. Haynes, who has lined up the forces on the Canadian border, Col. L. G. Nutt, who is returning from his mobilization of the Florida army and P. C. Yellowley, who recently reorganized the forces on the Mexican frontier, will assemble Thursday or Friday to draw up final plans for a simultaneous onslaught on rum runners via sea and land.
Pickets have been stationed all along the line from Havana to Montreal to San Diego to El Paso gathering information from the "enemy" to be used when the new big battle begins.
The Florida division has been reinforced with thirty additional men who will cooperate with the naval forces—a flotilla of subchasers now cruising in southern waters awaiting the final command for a smuggling clean-up.
Col. Nutt has stationed "spies" in Havana, Nassau and other points of vantage. They are to "tip off" the Florida commission of sea, land and air forces (one airplane is now being used at this point) on the movements of the enemy.
The army now numbers more than 1,200 men with probably 500 available for border duty.
The "intelligence bureaus" now are gathering this data in preparation for the simultaneous movement of all forces.

HEAVIEST VOTE IN HISTORY IS EXPECTED TODAY

More Than 2,300 Ballots Cast at Noon—Polls Close at 8 O'clock Tonight

The heaviest vote ever polled in a municipal election is expected when the polls close at 8 o'clock this evening. The vote at noon today was almost as heavy as in the presidential election, many election officials said.
The heaviest vote is being polled in the First ward where 582 ballots had been placed in the boxes at 1 o'clock. In the Second ward 500 votes had been cast. Votes in the other wards were: Third, 461; Fourth, 231; Fifth, 289, Sixth, 250.
The big voting rush in the Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth wards will start after the mills and factories close late in the afternoon.
The total vote at 1 o'clock was 2,215, very nearly as large as the entire vote in the primary election of March 21. All the candidates have made a real effort to get the vote out for this election.
Polls close at 8 o'clock this evening. City officials, candidates and other public men are urging every eligible person to vote this year.
Election officials say that hundreds of women are voting today. In the Second ward about one-third of the vote at noon had been cast by women. The proportion is not as heavy in some of the other wards.
Counting of the ballots will be started immediately after 8 o'clock but it probably will be midnight or later before the result is known. The exceptionally heavy vote will require many hours to tabulate, election officials say.

25 IRISH KILLED IN BORDER FIGHT

Churchill Announces 90 Deaths in Irish Fighting Since Feb. 10

Dublin—Twenty-five Irish republican extremists were killed in a border battle in the Sperrin mountains, county Tyrone, which continued night after night for over a week, according to reports reaching Dublin Tuesday.
Ulster constables have been incessantly attacked by Sinn Feiners.
90 PERSONS KILLED
Ninety persons were killed and 201 wounded in fighting, murder and bombing outrages in Belfast between Feb. 10 and March 26, Winston Churchill, minister for the colonies, announced in the house of commons Tuesday afternoon.
Churchill said the official casualty lists showed 32 Protestants, 51 Catholics, 6 policemen and one officer had been slain in that period and 86 Protestants and 115 Catholics wounded.
CRAIG IN DEFIANT
Belfast—Sir James Craig, Ulster premier, flung defiance to the free state adherents in southern Ireland Tuesday in a speech before the northern parliament.
"I will never lead Ulster into a free state parliament," Craig declared, answering statements by Arthur Griffith that the peace agreement signed in London had brought Irish unity nearer.

His vertebrae was fractured at the base of the skull. Hopper is unable to describe how the accident happened. He declares he was awakened suddenly by a severe pain in his back and declares he was conscious that something was wrong.
Doctors say Hopper has a chance of recovery.

Small Demands Women In Jury, To Hear Case

By United Press Leased Wire
Waukegan, Ill.—Decision by Judge Claire C. Edwards on the demand of Gov. Len Small that women be on the jury that tries him for alleged conspiracy to embezzle state funds, will be handed down Wednesday.
Small's attorneys blocked the trial of the executive when they attacked the legality of the jury panel because no women were included.
In case the judge upholds the governor's contention, trial will be delayed while provisions are made for accommodation of a mixed jury in the Lake county courthouse.

CROWNHART IS GIVEN PLACE IN HIGH COURT

Gov. Blaine Announces Appointment of Madison Man to Succeed Siebecker
By United Press Leased Wire
Madison—Charles H. Crownhart, Madison, state revisor of statutes, was appointed a justice of the supreme court of the state of Wisconsin by Gov. J. J. Blaine Tuesday.
Crownhart succeeds Chief Justice Robert G. Siebecker, who died six weeks ago. Associate Justice A. J. Vinja succeeded to the chief justiceship by the seniority rule at once.
"The ability of Mr. Crownhart is conceded by all," Gov. Blaine said Tuesday. "His active practice of law for more than 25 years has been more general and varied."
"All of the persons considered for the supreme court have been highly indorsed," Blaine said. "In appointing Mr. Crownhart I have in mind his experience on the industrial commission. He was chairman of the commission for four years while its work was constructive. He has made a deep study of industrial conditions of the state from actual view and consultation with all parties concerned. The experience and knowledge he gains thereby will be valuable on the supreme bench."
Crownhart will make his first appearance as a supreme court justice a week from Tuesday when the supreme court comes down in its monthly announcement of decisions.
Attorney Thomas H. Ryan, former judge of Outagamie county municipal court, was indorsed by Outagamie County Bar association for the appointment. Mr. Ryan also had the support of many lawyers in all parts of the state.
Crownhart, it is said, is a Republican. Mr. Ryan is a Democrat in politics.

APPOINT REVISOR

Madison—The successor to Charles H. Crownhart, state revisor of statutes, who was appointed the seventh member of the Wisconsin supreme court Tuesday, will be chosen by the supreme court and Attorney General Wm. J. Morgan.
Selection of a new revisor of statutes is expected to take place shortly after next Tuesday, when Crownhart sits as a justice for the first time.
The revisor of statutes receives a salary of $5,000 a year. Duly elected justices receive $10,000 a year but appointees receive only $7,500 a year when filling unexpired terms.

MUST ELIMINATE WASTE TO BOOM HOME BUILDING

Chicago—A nation of home owners made possible through the "elimination of those great indirect wastes in production of building materials," was visualized here Tuesday by Secretary of Commerce Hoover.
In address before the construction industries convention, Hoover declared: "It is scarcely possible for a worker from his own income to build a new and ample home."
"I have been urged by leading men in these activities to frankly express the department of commerce's conclusions in the matter of national needs in building and construction," he said. The remedy, Hoover said, is threefold:
1. Elimination of crooked practices of some small majority of men engaged in the building industry.
2. Elimination of those great indirect wastes that are beyond the control of any individual and can only be accomplished by associated action.
3. Cleaner organization of trades rather than destruction of trades or organization.
Hoover characterized trade associations, whether manufacturers or distributors or workers, as a "complete necessity in our growing economic life" and added they can and have been misused, however.

HARDING AIDES DEFEND FIRING OF 25 WORKERS

Intimate Bureau Chiefs Were Dismissed Because of Loyalty to Wilson
FIGHT WILL BE CONTINUED

Washington—Administration spokesmen in congress Tuesday began a counter attack on Democrats who attacked President Harding's action in "firing" all the executives of the bureau of engraving without notice.
Democrats have introduced resolutions in congress demanding investigation of the whole affair.
Now, by innuendo and indirect intimation, the administration spokesmen accuse the discharged employees of plotting with persons high in the Wilson administration to keep intact within the government service the nucleus of an effective Democratic machine.
The names of Joseph P. Tumulty and of William G. McAdoo, former secretary of President Wilson and Wilson's son-in-law have been drawn in with the half veiled insinuation that some at least of those dismissed showed greater loyalty to Tumulty and McAdoo than to Harding and Mellon.

HOLD UP PROBE
Orders were issued somewhere that the Caraway resolution introduced Monday in the senate as a means of bringing to light the charges on which Harding based his dismissals should be held up for the present. It was intimated that the resolution would be blocked until Attorney General Daugherty has completed the inquiry he is making into conditions at the bureau. That inquiry is expected to be followed by a statement or action which will disclose the reasons for the dismissals. Such a statement or action taken by the government would render adoption of the Caraway resolution unnecessary, it was pointed out.

FIGHT WILL CONTINUE
The controversy had far to continue, however, in spite of Republican efforts to head it off. Some of the discharged employees have been promised by interested members of congress that the strongest possible fight would be made in their behalf.
Democratic strategists have seized upon the incident as a political opportunity.
Altogether the matter promised today to develop into one of the most talked of issues in the congressional campaign.

BIGGER SALARY OFFERS LURING TEACHERS AWAY

At Least Half Dozen High School Instructors Will Not Return Next Year

Because more alluring positions having been offered elsewhere and to the fact that others intend to discontinue teaching the coming year, at least half a dozen teachers will not return to Appleton high school next year. Salaries here will remain practically the same as this year.
This was learned at a meeting of the board of education in the library of Appleton high school Monday afternoon. It was one of the most important sessions of the year. Much time was devoted to a discussion of the report of the committee on teachers and text.
ADOPT CALENDAR
The school calendar for the coming year was adopted after a lengthy discussion. The tentative one introduced called for the opening of school on Sept. 4, Labor day, and the closing of school for the holidays on Dec. 22.

BAD WEATHER DELAYS TRANS-OCEAN FLIGHT

Las Palmas—Bad weather forced down the Portuguese aviators who started Monday for the Cape Verde islands on the second leg of their 4,000 mile flight to Brazil. They were forced to land their scaplane in a bay on the island of Gran Canaria, one of the largest of the Canary group. Weather permitting, a fresh start will be made Tuesday.

House Labor Committee Is Planning Conferences To Put Quick End To Strike

JUDGE CONFESSES TO SLAYING FRIEND IN HIS OWN HOME

Oklahoma Jurist Released on Bail After Dead Man is Found in His House

By United Press Leased Wire
Oklahoma City, Okla.—Judge Dean P. Day, at whose residence Lieut. Col. Paul Ward Beck, commandant at Post field, army aviation headquarters near Lawton, Okla., was found dead early Tuesday, was released on $5,000 bond pending a coroner's inquest to be held this afternoon. The county attorney's office declared emphatically no charges have been filed against Judge Day.
Judge Day had been held "pending inquest" by county authorities.
Judge Day is alleged to have given the following version of Lieut. Col. Beck's death to county evidence man W. R. Withington:
"A number of people had been at my home where we were having a party, my friends and I had just taken some of them home. When I returned I drove up on the driveway beside the house.
"The window blinds were up and the lights were on so I could see in the house. I stopped my car and saw Beck grab at my wife. They had quite a scuffle.
"I got out of my car, went in the front door and upstairs. As I went upstairs, Beck ran into the dining room behind the curtains.
"When I came back down with my gun in my hand I told Beck to get out of the house. He started at me as though he was going to hit me and I struck at him with my gun. I aimed to hit him over the head and the gun went off and shot Beck.
"We had eaten dinner at the Skirvin with Beck before the party at home. I have known him for some time and he has visited my house a number of times."
It was typical of Lloyd George that he wasted no time in tackling the domestic difficulties that beset his government, immediately after scoring a signal triumph in the house "where he received a majority of 278 on a vote of confidence."
"Having my sleeves rolled up, I might just as well clean up all around," the premier is reported to have remarked to a friend.
Despite the grueling seven hour session of parliament Monday night, Lloyd George appeared fresh and rested.
Tuesday's press handled the prime minister's victory in the house with partisan caution. Conservative papers attacked the suggestion of "the hand of fellowship for Lenin" as the Morning Post put it. "The Daily Herald at the other extreme, called the vote of confidence, 'artificial' and the Westminster Gazette headed Lloyd George's speech 'a dying minister's last words.'"

BANDITS ROUTED BY ALARM SYSTEM

Alarm Calls Posse Which Surrounds Bandit Quartet in Big Swamp

By United Press Leased Wire
Niles, Mich.—Four robbers who held up the Eau Claire bank near here and escaped with $1,200 were captured by a posse in a remote marsh Tuesday afternoon.
Three negroes, led by a white man, attempted to escape in an automobile which broke down when the posse was close upon them.
The white man was shot and captured. His three negro accomplices fled into a nearby marsh where they were taken several hours later.
Niles, Mich.—One bank robber was shot and captured and three others surrounded in a swamp near Eau Claire near here Tuesday, after they had held up and robbed the Eau Claire State bank of $1,200.
The captured man gave his name as Henry Griffin, Gary, Ind.
Three robbers entered the bank at 10 a. m., while Griffin sat in the automobile outside. Three employees were ordered to hold up their hands. As they complied they stepped on burglar alarms. One of the robbers, the village barber shop nearby where a deputy sheriff worked and the other in a garage. Armed, the deputies ran into the street and started shooting. The men in the bank alarmed at the shooting and grabbing $1,200, jumped into an automobile and fled. A posse pursued closely. Several miles from Eau Claire the bandit car stuck in the mud. Griffin who was slightly wounded, surrendered. The other three hid in the swamp which covers an area of several square miles.

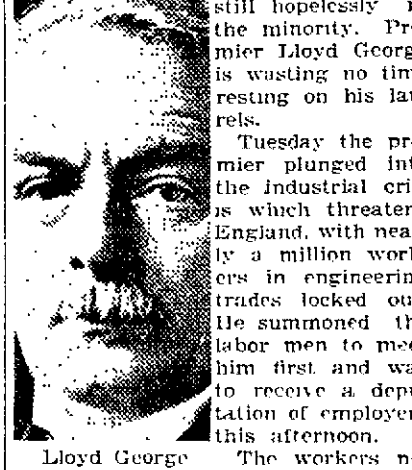

LEARN ARTERY CONDITION BY STUDYING FINGER TIPS

By United Press Leased Wire
Rochester, Minn.—Examination of the finger tips under a microscope will disclose whether one is threatened with hardening of the arteries.
Dr. George B. Brown of the Mayo clinic made this statement Tuesday before the sixth annual meeting of the American Congress of Internal Medicine now in session here.
This examination is by the use of the so-called Lombard method which enables the delicate blood capillaries beneath the finger tips to be plainly visible under the microscope and from their condition permits the physician to determine definitely whether the patient is in danger of hardening of the arteries or of apoplexy.

LOYD GEORGE, STILL IN LEAD, BACK TO WORK

Premier Gets Immense Vote of Confidence From House of Commons

By Ed. L. Keen
London.—Triumphant in the house of commons, where a test vote on a resolution of confidence Monday night showed his enemies still so badly in the minority, Premier Lloyd George is wasting no time resting on his laurels.
Tuesday the premier plunged into the industrial crisis which threatens England with nearly a million workers in engineering trades locked out. He summoned the labor men to meet him first and was to receive a deputation of employers this afternoon.
The workers' negotiations committee, including Clynes, parliamentary leader of the labor party and others, met with Lloyd George at 10 Downing street. There was full discussion of the workers position in the dispute which involved the question of unskilled labor being put on certain skilled work, against which the men protested.

MRS. MONTFORT WILL HAVE TO WORRY ALONG ON $4,800

New York—Frederick Montfort, retired St. Paul banker who spanked his wife, Adele, because of her affections for an Italian count, will not pay the additional temporary alimony asked by Mrs. Montfort, as a result of a decision handed down by Justice Lehman in the supreme court Tuesday.
Justice Lehman, reviewing the case, in which Mrs. Montfort, seeking separation, asked that her allowance be increased from $4,800 to $10,000 a year, decided against the plaintiff.
Montfort in his defense against the plea for additional alimony, testified his wife spent $3,600 for cosmetics in 18 months and that he had to come from St. Paul to New York to escape the high cost of her extravagance.

Rep. Nolan Wants to Get "Friendly" Operators and Miners Together

NONUNION MEN QUITTING

Kansas Miners Leave Work in Defiance of Order of Industrial Court

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—A plan for an early ending of the coal strike may be proposed within the next few days by the house labor committee, Representative Nolan, California, chairman of the committee said Tuesday.
This plan is to have the committee call an informal conference of the miners and the operators in the central competitive field who are not hostile to interstate wage negotiations. The belief of the committee is that such a conference could draw up a wage agreement which would soon be approved by all the operators in this field.
In the anthracite field, work is suspended according to President John L. Lewis, only pending the outcome of the wage negotiations in New York. The new plan says Nolan, a labor leader, meets with the approval of President Lewis.

FORCE IN OTHERS

If a definite agreement were reached at the informal conference, Nolan believes, other operators in the central competitive field would be forced to approve it. From this point the circle would be widened to include all miners and operators.
Nolan claims that only operators in the southern Ohio and the western Pennsylvania fields have absolutely refused to meet the miners. Although Nolan is optimistic regarding the plan, others in close touch with the situation believe the operators now stand united against interstate wage negotiations and one of them would enter the informal preliminary conference.
"I believe that we can work out a solution along this line," Nolan said. "I don't know exactly what machinery would be employed, but I think this is the right approach."

CONGRESS TOO SLOW

Nolan stated that the house labor committee would probably communicate with the operators toward this end. Action of congress as a body would be too slow he said.
The matter will be taken up with the committee Tuesday the chairman stated and action will be pressed.
Whether the conference would be held in Washington or at some point in the central competitive fields Nolan does not know. He said he would leave that to agreement of the miners and operators.

NONUNION MEN QUITTING

Indianapolis—Claims that thousands of nonunion men are swelling the ranks of miners on strike were made at headquarters of the United Mine Workers of America here Tuesday.

Fragmentary reports from the non union fields, according to officials showed that workers were dropping their tools to join the strike of 600,000 miners which started Saturday.

Vord from Kansas said that the miners there had responded 100 per cent to the strike call in defiance of the industrial court, which sent Alexander Howat, deposed Kansas union leader, to jail for contempt.

Lawrence Dwyer, international board member from West Virginia declared that 11,000 unorganized workers in the New River field had dropped their picks in sympathy.
Everyone at headquarters admitted that about 1,500 open shop miners in various parts of the country were producing coal at a rate exceeding 3,000,000 tons a week to build up the nation's reserve of 65,000,000 tons which is now being drawn upon.

SETTLEMENT NEAR

Kansas City, Mo.—Coal operators of the southwest Tuesday had expressed a willingness to enter into negotiations with United Mine Workers for establishment of a new wage scale and working agreement. Basis of negotiations will be a return to the wage scale of 1917 which provides for a wage of $3.60 a day as compared with $7.50 under the expired agreement, according to W. L. Johnson, general commissioner for the Southwestern Interstate Coal Operators' association. Johnson declared the operators are justified in seeking this wage scale in view of competitive conditions in surrounding coal producing states.

CRACKSMEN BLOW SAFE AND ESCAPE WITH $1,000

Minneapolis—Three masked cracksmen blew a safe at the Western Grocery company store early Tuesday and escaped with more than $1,000 in cash.
Alex Ferguson, night watchman, was seized, bound and gagged. They broke into an inner office, smashed the outer doors of the safe and opened the inner doors with a heavy charge of nitroglycerine.

LEGION PLEASED WITH PROGRAM AT MONDAY MEETING

Local Stars and Vaudeville Actors Present Splendid Entertainment

Local young people, aided by Couche brothers and Son and Sis Stead, who appeared at Fischer's Appleton theatre Sunday, offered the best entertainment ever provided at a meeting of the Oney Johnson post of the American legion which was held Monday evening in Elk Hall, following dinner at 6:30.

Fugh and Auld, Lawrence college men, put on an excellent black face act that doubled up the legions with laughter.

As a whole the event was the best ever held by the local post of the American legion. About 200 persons attended the dinner at 6:30 but about 500 were present at the meeting which followed. Attorney P. S. Bradford gave a talk on activities of the legion. He outlined in his talk the rights of the soldier bonus. Routine business was disposed of.

THE STAGE

Enchantment
"Enchantment," adapted from the Cosmopolitan story by Frank R. Adams has reached the screen and is being shown at the Appleton today and tomorrow with Marion Davies as the featured player. It is a clever little comedy concerning a "flapper" who succumbs to Petruchio-like taming. The cast is well chosen and the production of a high standard. A clever comedy "Torchy's Promotion" introduces Johnny Hines in another of this popular series and Fischer's International News shows current events.

William Pruitt displays a beautiful, robust singing voice in three Irish numbers including "Mother Machree." He is by far the best vocalist yet heard at the Appleton.

MUSIC CONTEST WAS BIG SUCCESS

Children Happy Over Chance to Learn Music in Competition

Every prize winner in the music memory contest recently conducted by the Music department of Appleton Women's club was present Monday to receive his prize which was awarded at the clubroom at 4 o'clock. Mrs. H. K. Pratt, chairman of the music department, and Mrs. H. D. McChesney, chairman of the contest were presented with flowers by the children of the Lincoln school who won the first prize. Mrs. McChesney was also presented with a fountain pen as a token of gratitude from the children who had gained much pleasure from the music competition.

Although the routine work of the contest proved to be almost overwhelming at the end, the committee in charge feels that the contest has been worthwhile. Miss Irene Bidwell, supervisor of music in the second division, voiced the sentiment of the children and the supervisors in presenting the flowers to Mrs. Pratt and Mrs. McChesney. Miss Bidwell told in verse of the great pleasure and great value which the children had derived from the contest and of their gratitude to the committee and to Appleton Women's club.

The children demonstrated their interest again by appearing early at the clubroom so as to be sure to be there on time. Most of the them had arrived by 3:10 while the meeting was called for 4 o'clock.

Alkali in Soap Bad for the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps are prepared and contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you use).

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich creamy lather, which rises out easily removing every particle of dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified. adv.

SEEK MAN TO TELL HIM HIS SON HAS BEEN SHOT

Efforts were made by the police department Monday to locate Leslie Shear of Wauwac, Wis., who was understood to be on his way to Hortonville. A message received from the Wauwac authorities indicated the man's son had been shot. The police traced the man and found that he had left Hortonville and was on his way to Wauwac, where it was expected the news would be communicated to him.

A Real Hair Saver

If your hair is falling out, prematurely gray, brittle, lifeless and full of dandruff, quick action must be taken to save it.

Get from any drug or toilet counter today a bottle of Parisian Sage and use as directed—there's nothing else so simple, safe and effective.

"Before going to bed I rub a little Parisian Sage into my scalp," says a woman whose luxurious, soft and fluffy hair is greatly admired. "It keeps away all dandruff—my hair is never dry, faded or scraggly, but retains its natural color and beauty."

Parisian Sage is inexpensive, and money refunded if not satisfactory. Schintz Bros. Co. sells lots of it. adv.

FIND CLOTHS FOR NEEDY CHILDREN

Response Has Been Excellent to Request Made by Red Cross Chapter

Through the efforts of Appleton Red Cross chapter and Boy Scouts many children who were out of school because they did not have sufficient clothes to wear will be able to return to their classes Monday.

Responding to the appeal for clothing made by the Red Cross chapter through The Post-Crescent many Appleton persons notified Miss Ann Helm, Red Cross executive, in the last few days they had bundles of clothing at their homes ready to be called for. Miss Helm Tuesday enlisted the aid of H. P. Buck, Boy Scout executive, who got together a group of Scouts who called for the bundles of clothing.

More clothing is needed. Any persons with clothes for children to dispose of may call Miss Helm at Red Cross Center and Boy Scouts will call for the garments.

APPLE CREEK "STREETS" IMPASSABLE THIS SPRING

There is no traffic on the "streets" of Apple Creek. Farmers avoid the locality with their teams and nobody attempts to pass through with automobiles, for in either case it means becoming hopelessly stuck in the mud. The reason for this condition is the unfinished road work of last year. A large quantity of dirt was hauled onto the roads from the fields, but it was not leveled down and surfaced with gravel as usually is the case. The melting snow and spring rains therefore have made the roads impassable, perhaps for the next two or three weeks.

BOY SLIGHTLY HURT WHEN HIT BY TRUCK

William Kettenhofen, 13, living at 363 Story-st., suffered minor injuries Tuesday morning when struck by a truck driven by Henry Brooks, when the machine was passing St. Joseph school. The boy was given medical aid and taken to his home. It was found that he had minor abrasions on the back of his head and on other parts of his body, but none was serious.

OUCH! LAME BACK. RUB LUMBAGO OR BACKACHE AWAY

Kidneys cause backache? Not listen! Your backache is caused by lumbago, sciatica, or a strain, and the quickest relief is soothing, penetrating St. Jacobs Oil. Rub it right on your painful back, and instantly the soreness, stiffness and lameness disappears. Don't stay crippled! Get a small trial bottle of St. Jacobs Oil from your druggist and limber up. A moment after it is applied you'll wonder what became of the backache or lumbago pain.

Rub old, honest St. Jacobs Oil whenever you have sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism or sprains, as it is absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin. adv.

FIRST AID WORK FOR GIRL SCOUTS

By May 25, all members of Shamrock troop of Girl Scouts must be ready to take their second class tests, according to the ruling made by the patrol leaders of the troop at a meeting Saturday morning. All the girls are working to qualify for their second class tests and the patrol leaders feel that April and May will be a long enough time for preparation.

Mrs. N. P. Mills has arranged to conduct the first aid and home nursing examinations for the troop at the Vocational school on Tuesday and Thursday. These tests include the making of a regular bed and a hospital bed, how to remove a splint from the eye, how to treat ivy poisoning, how to stop bleeding and several other practical treatments. Troop 4 of St. Joseph school will soon be ready for its tenderfoot tests. Girls in other troops will also be ready for tests and many of them are working for their merit badges. Rigid adherence to the rules of the Girl Scout health book will provide health badges for many of the girls. All badges and honors for the four troops will be awarded at a ceremonial meeting early in June.

TEAM NO. 3 CLINCHES ST. PAUL CHAMPIONSHIP

Volleyball team No. 3 of St. Paul Lutheran Recreation club is the season's champion. The players piled up such a lead during the recent games that the closing series of games scheduled for next Monday evening cannot alter the standing. Team No. 3 was defeated two out of three games by team No. 1 in a contest in the school hall Monday evening and team No. 2 took two out of three games from No. 4.

Joseph Ornstein returned Tuesday from a business trip in Chicago.

CITY AND COLLEGE TO BENEFIT FROM CLOSE RELATIONS

Students Urged to Take Greater Interest in Affairs of Appleton

"The stronger the bonds of friendly feeling between Lawrence college and the people in Appleton, the better it will be for both," said Dr. W. E. McPheeters, head of the English department of Lawrence college, in speaking to the students during the chapel hour on Monday. The professor urged the students to take a greater interest in the affairs and welfare of the city.

Dr. McPheeters pointed out to the students that they make Appleton their home for four years when they come here to college. He said that they would have to go a long way to find a better city or a better college town. He showed the students that although almost none of them pay taxes, the city pays for the protection of them as well as its residents by having a police force, a fire department, public health department and in many other ways.

The speaker emphasized that although the relations between the city and the students have not been unpleasant, still the relationship is largely one of indifference. He chided the students for living a too isolated life, centering their attention on the campus and not taking enough interest in the people around them outside the college.

VOIGT IN BUSINESS IN APPLETON FOR 17 YEARS

J. E. Voigt, druggist at 758 College-ave., observed the seventeenth anniversary of starting business in Appleton on Monday. Seventeen years ago April 3 he purchased the drug store across the street from his present location from William Montgomery and took possession at once. He came here from Chicago. Mr. Voigt moved to his new store last September.

When Mr. Voigt started business in Appleton the drug store did not include as much as it does now. At that time amateur photography was not developed and drug stores handled very little photographic material or equipment. Now it is one of the big features of the business.

CLASSES ARE RESUMED AT LAWRENCE COLLEGE

Moving by hand is the new order if college coeds are to set the fashion. Saturday was moving day for the girls who remained in Appleton during the spring vacation. They could be seen carrying everything from their best afternoon dresses to tinny birds and chafing dishes from Peabody dormitory where they stayed during vacation to their rooms in other dormitories. All the available young men on the campus were pressed into service to carry their portable victrolas and heavy luggage.

Sunday trains brought many students back from their short week of recreation at home. Classes at the college commenced at 8 o'clock Monday morning and by noon, vacation was little more than memory.

WARNS OWNERS TO PAY DOG TAX NOW

Final Notice to Pay Fee of $1 is Sent Delinquents by District Attorney

Dog owners in Outagamie-co. are being given a final opportunity by Fred V. Heinemann, district attorney, to pay the fee of $1 required by the new state law or have the penalties enforced.

Mr. Heinemann is sending letters to all delinquent owners, notifying them that to dispose of the dog now does not excuse them from paying the fee, as the liability dates from Jan. 1. The letter issued by the district attorney follows:

"Having been notified by the county clerk that your name appears on the tax roll as a delinquent dog tax payer, it becomes my duty to take the matter in hand.

"First, do not kill your dog or give him away. The tax liability becomes fixed January 1, 1922 and if you had your dog then you owe this tax. Getting rid of your dog after that date does not help you any so do not take it out on the dog. He does not know about the tax and if he did, his life is worth more than the small amount this tax calls for.

"As this tax is assessed under a new law, I take it that perhaps you are not familiar with it. Your dog tax is only one dollar. Go to your treasurer and take out your dog license.

"If I receive further report that you have not done so under the law, I will be required to enforce the penalty the law prescribes against you."

DOZEN FORESTERS AT DE PERE MEETING

More than a dozen members of the Catholic Order of Foresters attended the semi-annual meeting of the Fox River Valley association of the Catholic Order of Foresters at DePere Sunday afternoon. The principal business related to a discussion of the rate question by Leo P. Fox of Chilton and Gustave Keller of Appleton. The discussion was followed by supper and an informal program in the evening. More than 150 members were in attendance and nearly all cities of Fox river valley were represented. Selection of a place for holding the next meeting was left to the officers of the association.

Sulphite Smell No Longer Is Weather Omen

April showers are visiting this locality true to form, but the farmers can't foretell them as accurately as of old because their most reliable prognosticator is gone.

With the dismantling of the old Interlake sulphite acid tower, the sulphite fumes no longer indicate the coming of rain. The strange odor could be detected at a distance of three or four miles when the tower was operating, but only when the atmosphere was heavy and a storm approaching. Fumes of smaller towers still can be noticed in the city.

NEW PAPER CONCERN MAY LOCATE HERE

Assistance of the chamber of commerce has been asked by members of a new paper converting firm who are seeking a location in Appleton. They desire to rent about 3,000 square feet of floor space, either as a building that size or part of some other plant. Machinery for the plant already has arrived here. Secretary Hugh G. Corbett would welcome suggestions for a location.

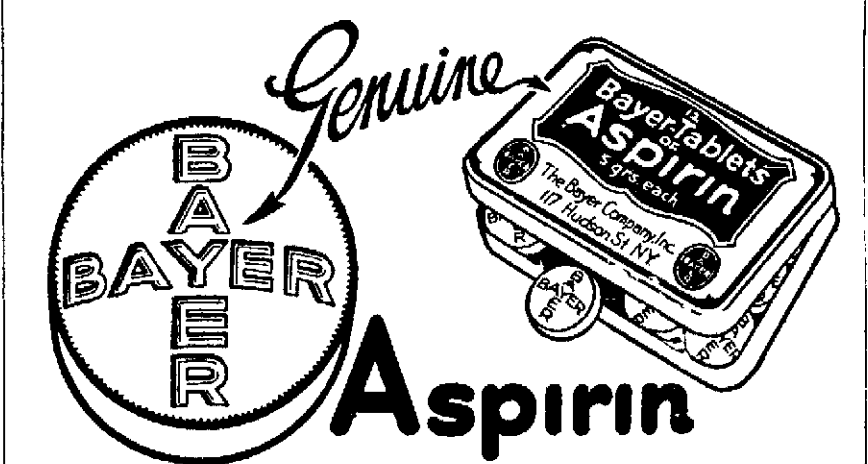

TALKS TO P. O. MEN ON FOOT HYGIENE

Dr. E. F. McGrath was the speaker at the monthly supper and meeting of Appleton Postoffice association in the federal building Saturday evening. He spoke on "Hygiene and Care of the Feet," telling the carriers and clerks of the common foot troubles and how to avoid them. The discussion and questions asked of the doctor made the subject one of the most helpful taken up by the association.

Maxims, jokes and worthy quotations poured forth in an interesting variety when the roll call was conducted for the first time according to this plan of answering.

The association voted to be responsible for entertainment of the DePere postoffice bowling team when a return match is held here within a short time. The meeting closed with a discussion of matters pertaining to the mail service.

Hopfensperger Bros. Big Sale On Leaf Lard

ONE CAR-LOAD OF LEAF LARD WILL BE SOLD AT 11c PER POUND

Our prediction several months ago was that Leaf Lard will be cheaper. The reason for this was to save the public from putting in their supply at unreasonable, high prices. However, some of our competitors sold Leaf Lard at 12½c-13c per pound and claim they were not prophets and could not make any predictions, but urged the public to put in Leaf Lard at 13c per pound and they would not be disappointed. However, if it's money the public wants to save 2c per pound should at all times be considered AND SHOULD ALSO PROVE THAT Hopfensperger Bros. at all times, stand ready to serve the public at lowest prices.

THE COAL PROBLEM
For the last 60 years the production of coal in the United States has been attended with strikes and industrial disturbances. We have had notable strikes like those of 1893, 1897, 1900, 1902 and 1919. After all these years we are apparently as far as ever from removing the causes of friction and strife in the coal fields. It must be admitted that this is not a testimonial to our boasted national efficiency or to our social and economic progress.

So much is involved in a coal strike of the proportions of the one now in force that the public is not in a position to pass judgment upon its merits. The causes are complicated. They go back to certain fundamentals in the industry and are thoroughly understood by only those who have given the subject technical investigation or who are familiar with the questions by reason of direct experience in dealing with them.

One of the chief factors which has prevented a solution of the labor question is the fact that the capacity production of the soft coal mines is heavily in excess of consumption and consequently of demand. If all of the mines that are being worked were operated to their capacity with normal forces we should have a large annual over-production of coal. The excess has been placed as high as 200,000,000 tons a year.

The policy of the mine owners has been, therefore, to keep production down. In some respects strikes have not been unwelcome to the operator for the simple reason that they curtailed production and helped to sustain higher prices. Oddly as it may seem, a strike also causes comparatively little concern to the miner, because his average employment runs only a little more than three days per week. The time that he is idle while the mines are closed is the equivalent of non-employment when the mines are open. He simply takes his medicine in a large dose in case of a strike, whereas in working times he takes it in homeopathic pills. A prolonged strike is certain to be followed by constant employment for a considerable period, so that in the long run it is about an even break with the miner, strike or no strike. There is so much coal to be mined, and when that is supplied, employment ceases or is reduced.

The fact that there is potential over-production of coal necessarily means that the miners must be paid high wages. Whether they work three, four or five days per week, they must also be paid for the days they do not work. That is one reason why the per diem wage is frequently so high. It is one of the strongest arguments in favor of the five-day week which the miners are demanding, if we look at it from the standpoint of the miners, for it would at least help to stabilize the industry and take up some of the slack in over-production. The fact that the five-day week and six-hour day may be uneconomical is an entirely different matter.

Every controversy between the miners and the operators over working conditions is in reality a controversy with the public. Whatever the miners are paid in wages, whatever they are paid for idleness, is paid by the consumer. If we had a five-day week and a six-hour day in the coal mining industry the public would have to make it possible by footing the bill. The public pays every increase in wage, whether direct or indirect.

The opening up of mines that potentially produce more coal than can be consumed or sold has made an excessive price of fuel to the consumer. It has also been without corresponding gain to the miners, and is accordingly detrimental to our national interests.

How to adjust production to consumption in such a manner as to give miners continuous employment at a sound and healthy wage and to give the consumer the benefit of efficient and economical production of coal as against the present wasteful, inefficient and burdensome method is the real problem of the industry. One thing is certain, the public is not going to go on indefinitely suffering from a condition which is basically wrong and which constitutes an unjust tax upon coal consumers running into hundreds of millions of dollars. Government operation of the mines is the final recourse. It is to be avoided if possible, but if impossible we shall have to come to it and make the best of it. Certainly conditions under government operation could not be much worse than they are at present from the standpoint of the consumer, and the consumer is the principal party in interest.

BEVERIDGE TO SET AN EXAMPLE

Mr. Alfred J. Beveridge, who is seeking Mr. Harry New's seat in the United States senate, is determined that no question of purchase price shall arise in Indiana. It may be that no large amount of money would be used in the race, but Mr. Beveridge, being experienced in politics, realizes that the safest place to raise the money question, or prevent an issue over money, is at the polls.

Mr. Beveridge has announced that he will close his campaign headquarters at Indianapolis and every week will publish a sworn, itemized statement of his expenses. This is good campaign diplomacy. The weekly publication of a sworn statement of campaign expenses surely will not impair the reputation of the senate. Indiana, at least, should be in a position to maintain that the senatorial verdict was decided by the voters and their ballots.

His opponent, Senator New, voted to O. K. Mr. Newberry's $275,000 credentials. On this issue alone Mr. Beveridge should win, to say nothing of the fact that he is far superior in ability and progressiveness.

EXIT MARGOT: ENTER LADY ASTOR

Lady Astor, M. P., freely expresses her opinions concerning the men and women of America at a luncheon to the American press correspondents in London. The luncheon provided the fixed occasion for viscountess to set forth the object of her visit to this lecture platform.

Mrs. Asquith is said to have profited $25,000 to $35,000 by her brief sojourn in America. As Lady Astor speaks frequently in parliament, she probably is a more eloquent speaker than Mrs. Asquith, and she has a chance to add to her fame in this country.

Moreover, Lady Astor appears ready to go Margot one better in her appeals to notoriety. "I have little hope of broadening the viewpoint of American men," she says; and, "when American women have advanced as far as the British women they will cease to be feminists."

Now, nobody in the United States will take offense at what Lady Astor may say. If she is the type that she describes British women as being, she will be a unique attraction. When women cease to be feminists, do they become merely limelighters, agitators, publicists and propagandists?

TODAY'S POEM
By Barton Finley

THIS CROWDED WORLD

"The world is so full of a number of things,
But the number I've seen is few.
While each new day of existence brings
A little bit more that's new;
So why should I ever grow bored with life
When the wide world's beckoning me
With lure of pleasure and work and strife
And a myriad things to see?
"The world is so full of a number of things,
That I wake with a thrill each day,
Awaiting the wonders that on swift wings
Will certainly come my way;
And if they fail me, and time runs slow,
A pretty and weary road,
I put my hat on my head and go
Where pleasant things are found.
Oh, the things I've seen make a paltry list
Compared to the vast supply
Of sights neglected, and things I've missed,
So I'll never be bored, nor I!
For curiosity daily springs
Anew in the heart of man,
The world is full of a number of things,
And I want to see all I can!"

MURMURING HEARTS

Murmurs and rumors of murmurs are rife in the land. Have you a little murmur in your heart? When you discover that you have, does that cool your goose, does it doom you to a life as sweet as it is short or as sad as it is long? Just what is a murmur between friends?

A murmur is a musical sound which a physician delights to hear. Brooks murmur for poets who write reams about it, and the rest of us hear nothing but babble in brooks. Murmurs, aortas and arteries murmur for doctors who write essays and tomes on the subject, the not such ponderous essays and such terrible tomes as the great masters, turned out a few generations ago. The old time doctors saved themselves considerable anxiety by arbitrarily dividing all heart trouble into "functional" and "organic." We can't take life so easily these days. A "functional" disease was not yet so far advanced that it seriously disabled or destroyed, and the trouble became organic when the doctor became fully convinced the patient had it. An "organic" disease may be considered one which is not so difficult to diagnose. On some such free and easy distinction it was formerly customary to designate the condition "organic" when a murmur was audible.

Yet a murmur is commonly heard over the heart of an individual who has nothing more serious than moderate anemia, and a murmur is frequently absent in cases of unquestioned valve leakage. The presence of a murmur in cases of valve leakage is rather a favorable sign, the murmur being liable to disappear when the efficiency of the heart falls below a safe level.

So a murmur doesn't mean there is anything the matter with the heart. It is nothing to boast of. You can't inherit a murmur or heart diseases either or anemia.

A good doctor may certainly detect a murmur about your chest today when an equally good doctor may not discover next month, for the simple reason that murmurs do come and go like warts and wisdom. Be the doctor ever so skillful and experienced he can form but a tentative opinion of the vital efficiency of your heart by merely listening with his stethoscope and examining the pulse. Such examination gives him clues to follow but does not enable him to determine whether your heart is competent to do the work you want it to do.

Suppose you have a murmur and it really is produced by valvular distortion and leakage, does that put you in the invalid class? Not as a general rule, for with a fair chance which you find by right living, the handicap may be perfectly compensated by enlargement of the heart and hypertrophy of the heart muscle. It is well, then, to know whether you have valvular leakage—many so affected are unaware of it—for if you know you are more likely to live right and avoid errors which injure the heart live right and avoid errors which injure the heart live right and avoid errors which injure the heart.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Throwing a Healthy Scare

I have a sister that has anemia and is very nervous. She has had fainting spells also, but they are gradually going away. Her physician says she is caused by her nerves. Her blood test is between 80 and 90. Would you give me an outline for food and exercise for anemia. She has fallen away about 15 pounds in the last year.—(Mrs. H. A. J.)
Answer—"Her nerves" is the physician's polite way of declining to tell what ails your sister. "Nerves," like "just a cold," and "overwork," cover a multitude of secrets and help to keep many private affairs private. Among the conditions your description suggests are tuberculosis, cancer, diabetes, Bright's disease and others too alarming to mention. So you see how utterly impossible it is for a physician to make an intelligent reply to your question. (Among the secrets concealed by such flimsy diagnoses as "nerves," "just a cold," and "overwork" is the secret of the doctor's incompetence in the case.)

No Good on the Shelf

Since relating to a neighbor (in the hope she might get the practical good of it) your story concerning oxygen as the "Dutch Cleanser" for the human system and blood, and being solemnly informed she always keeps it on the kitchen shelf, I've realized my own need for a sustaining stimulant as a brace for future shocks, and therefore I should like to add the Brady Symphony to my daily task of trying to keep fit, provided it is not too late to ask for a copy of it.—(N. P. C. E.)

Answer—The mail man is on the way with it. Ask your neighbor if she ever heard of an Irishman who the Irishman and the Dutchman kept some good liquor in the cellar for emergencies and the doctor replied, with his w. w. scintillating wit, "Good! Always keep it there in emergencies and it'll do no harm."

Lemon and Salts, Lemon and Salts

I take the juice of one lemon in half a cup of hot water every morning before breakfast. I have heard it is a dangerous thing to take. Will you kindly tell me whether there is any reason why I should not continue taking it.—(Mrs. Detroit.)
Is it harmful to take a teaspoonful of salts each day to clear a person's skin? One with very thick rich blood.—(Mrs. L. S. C.)

Answer—No harm in the lemon juice habit, provided you do not rub your lip on the edge of the cup, better use a whole cup half full or half a cupful. The frequent or daily use of salts of any kind will spoil the complexion and run the health in time. Of course physics or cathartics do not clear the complexion or "thin the blood."

Resume of American and Foreign Newspaper Opinion

WRANGLING OVER WRANGLER

The somewhat irrelevant observation might be made that as soon as we stop scrapping about Yap we start wrangling over Wrangler.

An Arctic explorer sailing under the British flag has "started something" in official and newspaper circles by staking a claim, in the name of the British Empire, to that bit of rather chilly real estate about 100 miles northeast of Siberia known as Wrangler Island.

Considering the importance the island seems suddenly to have acquired it is perhaps strange, as one editor observes, that it should have gone all these years without an owner. But this the PHILADELPHIA PUBLIC LEDGER explains by pointing out that since it has always been the same colossus as Russia on the maps "everybody who ever gave the matter a moment's thought (and very few have lost much sleep over it) took it for granted that Wrangler Island was a part of Russia's vast Siberian appanage," and "nobody thought of asking questions." From recent developments, however, it looks to the LEDGER very much "as though Stefansson had stolen a march on other empire builders."

But the BOSTON POST is of the opinion that "there are likely to be serious doubts at Washington about the validity of this claim," that Stefansson puts forth. Certainly the WASHINGTON STAR contests it "with vigor." It does not yield "one jot or tittle" of American sovereignty over the island, for "it is our property by right of discovery and other rights"—largely because, it might be said incidentally, the STAR hopes that the place may someday be utilized as a summer resort to which it can repair after "some of the August afternoons and evenings which come to Washington now and then."

The basis of the American claim to Wrangler Island is outlined thus by the NEW YORK HERALD:
"Rather more than forty years ago, during the search for the fabled Jeannette . . . the revenue cutter Corwin anchored off the shore of the island and sent a landing party there. The Rodgers, also in search of the Jeannette, made a landing and her officers made a reconnaissance of the coast, discovering that Wrangler Island was not a part of the Arctic continent, but an island one hundred miles or more off the Siberian coast. The officers of both vessels filed claims upon the island as a territory to be annexed to the United States. Lieutenant Berry of the Rodgers left the American flag flying from the cairn containing the claim of annexation."

The original discovery of the land, however, is credited to the British by the INDIANAPOLIS STAR, but it thinks that both Britain and the United States "have allowed any claims they might have to lapse through failing to occupy it continuously for five years." "If Wrangler is ours," the CHARLESTON (S. C.) NEWS AND COURIER is in favor of claiming it, but it strongly advises the state department not to start any dispute over ownership "unless it is prepared to carry the fight through to a completely successful conclusion."

"The only reason that Stefansson was able to set up a British claim was because nobody ever wanted the place enough to claim it," and the ELMIRA STAR GAZETTE takes it as evidence that there is little left in the world to annex when Britain "takes the trouble to raise its flag on the Arctic Ocean, never the ultimate reason, and while it is hard to understand what the British want with the place, the STAR GAZETTE offers a fairly rational explanation. It is inhabited 'only by polar bears,' it says; 'there is no native population to revolt. Wrangler's loyalty can never be questioned. Those polar bears can be depended on.'"

While the United States can legitimately dispute the British title, the SPRINGFIELD (O.) NEWS inclines to the opinion that "more than likely the government of the Dominion of Canada," it is not certainly will if the TORONTO STAR accurately reflects Canadian sentiment, for it declares "Wrangler Island is now a part of the Dominion of Canada." Stefansson "did not act on his own responsibility, but as the head of an expedition sent out by the government of Canada," the Canadian paper informs us, and while the Washington government may, if it desires, discuss the legality of the title, nevertheless—

"It's our island. We've got it. It may not seem to be worth much to us at present, but it is worth more to us than to anybody else. It's ours and we have it nailed down. If anybody thinks it ought to be un-nailed, Ottawa will discuss that with them so long as typewriters continue to be manufactured and until the last spruce tree of our illimitable forests has yielded up its last sheet of paper." American editorial opinion agrees with at least a small portion of this Canadian philippic—that the island doesn't seem to be worth much. Experts in the air strategy tell us "it is not a valuable possession of the island is of prime importance as an air base of approach to the northern shores of Siberia, in order to tap the rich fur resources of the Siberian littoral," reasons which the DISPATCH concedes are "probably as good as any."

"As for climate and productiveness Wrangler Island is not much," but the SAN ANTONIO LIGHT suggests that "if the loemen in the United States get too gay they may need it." "The loe" may be a bit too salty for domestic use, but it will be great for the soda fountains. So we think we will just keep it."

THE NEEDS OF ENGLAND AND FRANCE

Stockholm.—The contrasting attitude of Great Britain and France toward both Germany and Russia is outlined by the Dagens-Nyheter of Stockholm as follows:
"England has need of a reconstructed Germany and politically weak Russia. France, on the contrary, needs a weak Germany and a reconstructed Russia. The Soviet government will bring about a resumption of intercourse between reconvalescent Russia and France, and will regard England, in the future as in the past, as Russia's natural rival in the South West and South East."

"The Bolshevik revolution appears likely to be one of the most important acquisitions of the war for the British Empire. The old Russian imperialism had disappeared, giving place to a republic governed by a small number of social utopists who seemed too busy with their projects of social reform to have any time to think of events beyond the borders. The fact that certain members of the British government actively supported the policy of military intervention against Russia does not prevent England's attitude being on the whole sympathetic to the Bolsheviks. In the summer of 1920, during the Russian offensive against Poland, England played the part of protector of Soviet Russia by advising Poland to submit to the conqueror's conditions, thus preparing the peace of Western Europe under conditions which were very similar to a pure and simple capitulation in front of the soviet."

"All this time France was adopting an exactly the opposite policy and was developing such intense hatred towards the soviet that it seemed as if any compromise with the government was quite out of the question. It was not, however, as they would have had people believe, moral indignation against the Soviet oppression which determined this French policy, but simply the desire to reconstruct a military powerful Russia, preferably monarchist and imperialist to be an ally on the other side of Germany. For this reason, the reproaches made against the English policy for having made friends with the bloody tyrants of Moscow for its own profit, decidedly were out of place. It was just as natural for England to be pleased that Bolshevik rule was kept in Russia politically weak as were the French attempts to create a strong and powerful Russia."

"What is the present position of England and France with regard to Soviet Russia during the preliminary discussions of the Geneva conference? France generally is represented as maintaining the implacable enemy of the soviet government, while England takes a more conciliatory attitude in the interest of European peace. It seems more probable that the British government's attitude with regard to the soviet consists really in putting aside the Russian problem in order to make room for Germany. Many signs lead us to think that England hoped that the economic stipulations of the Versailles Treaty would by the very force of events, have to be discussed at the economic conference at Geneva, and that a revision of the treaty would be proposed. It is easy to understand, under these circumstances, how much France's obstinacy in refusing any discussion of the peace treaties at Geneva, is objectionable."

"With regard to Soviet Russia, however, France has a definite program. It may seem that this program is inspired by anything but friendly feelings for the Bolsheviks, but at least it is the first attempt on France's part towards the reconstruction of Russia and the maintenance of Bolshevik rule."

"If the Geneva conference brings about the recognition of the Soviet government, England will be among the first to resume normal relations with the Russian Republic, but probably with less enthusiasm than would have been otherwise the case. The Soviet government has shown that it is not indifferent to the prestige of Russia abroad and she certainly will return to her traditional role of opposition to England as soon as she is able to resume her activities abroad. But a Bolshevik Russia desirous of, and capable of, playing an important part in foreign countries is also open to alliances. And France is precisely in a position where she would be able to use her interest in her friendly terms with the Soviet republic, in which case the undesirable methods with which it was founded will soon be forgotten."

When we started selling suits this Spring at $35 we created an enormous stream of new faces—men who didn't know that prices on good merchandise were so low.
We, as you can appreciate, didn't take any chances when we took this new money—and the point is the men who purchased and who are buying daily ARE NOT TAKING ANY CHANCES ON US.

FINEST OF CLOTHING, READY-TO-WEAR

What To Wear

By Dr. R. H. Bishop
Careless dressing offers an open avenue through which the disease of this season—colds, influenza and pneumonia—may attack you.

Use care in picking your clothing this spring!
Overclothing yourself renders the skin oversensitive, so that when it is subjected to sudden exposure it is unable to stand it and you "catch cold."

The popular theory is that clothing bestows heat to the body by keeping the cold out.
The fact is that the clothing is a sort of safety valve which regulates the amount of heat allowed to escape from the body.

Naturally, also, the clothes do defend the body to a certain extent against the external influences of wind and weather.

KEEPS HEAT INSIDE
Clothing, no matter of what material, possesses the power of retaining a layer of air kept warm by our bodies. This layer of air varies according to the fitness and closeness of the weave of material used.

Thick garments are warmer than thin garments of the same material merely because they retain in their meshes a greater quantity of heated air.

Loose clothing is warmer than tight clothing, so also with shoes and gloves. With loose clothing, shoes or gloves there is a larger layer of heated air between the skin and the material. The circulation of the blood is freer, too.

PERMIT PERSPIRATION
The material of the clothing should be such as to allow free perspiration from the skin. We sweat in winter as well as summer, but the sweat is in the form of vapor and is invisible. To help make the body strong only the minimum amount of clothing that will secure warmth should be worn. Woolens protect most, but they require the least exercise of the temperature regulating apparatus of the body.

The wool becomes saturated with the perspiration, which it holds, to the disadvantage of the skin. Therefore, the woolen clothing should be confined to outer garments, as overcoats, designed especially for colder weather. Fur coats make the skin oversensitive.

The object of cumulative voting is to make possible minority representation.

Will Offer Prizes To Amateurs For Story Of City In Pictures

Appleton's story is to be told in pictures this summer and amateur photographers are going to do it through a contest which is to be staged by Appleton Advertising club, with the publicity committee of the chamber of commerce cooperating. Judges are to be appointed who will select the pictures which best tell the story of the city's activities and of its scenes and buildings. The contest will begin about June 1 and will continue through the summer, with prizes offered in the fall for the best work of the camera along the line mentioned.

Some of the views will be colored and printed on postcards. It will not be the gaudy coloring of the average card but will be the natural tinting by an artist, setting forth the scene in its true surroundings. A new Appleton booklet probably will be published by the chamber of commerce with the present issue is exhausted, and the newer pictures will figure prominently in it.

DOZEN CLASSES
There will be about a dozen classes under which pictures will be sought. One group will include schools, showing Appleton's educational side. Another will picture Appleton at play, showing its recreational centers in summer and winter. The industrial group will include views of papermills and other plants. A picture story of the dairy industry in the locality about Appleton also will be asked.

Stores and scenes on College-ave. and other downtown streets will be wanted for the commercial group. Pictures showing transportation by rail, water, interurban, truck and motor bus are to be among the contest entries. Other groups are to include scenic views, pictures of residences showing how Appleton lives, pictures of public buildings including places of amusement, and the religious story of the city through snapshots of various churches.

Pictures submitted need not necessarily be taken during the contest. Those who already have good views of the city may submit them to the managers of the contest. This is done to obtain winter as well as summer scenes. The committee in charge of the contest and the names of the judges are to be announced later.

Household Hints

PRESERVATION HINT
Before putting the winter clothing away for the summer, be sure that it is all thoroughly cleaned. Moths and insects favor soil spots. Another point is that the heat of the iron kills any moths or eggs which might be present.

OLD PAPERS
Old newspapers are excellent for wrapping furs and heavy fabrics when they are to be put away for a season. Moths avoid printer's ink.

FOR RUGS
Camphor or tarred paper should never be used in preparing dyed Persian rugs for storage. Chemical action may result and ruin the rug.

SPORTS WEAR
For sports wear the knitted costume which became popular last summer is often worn. This is usually accompanied by a cape.

MUST MATCH
Cigaret holders which match their frocks are the latest thing for feminine smokers.

EVENING FOOTWEAR
Two models are generally conceded to be best for evening footwear. They are the sandal and the slipper without a strap. The latter is usually trimmed with a rhinestone buckle.

MUCH TRIMMED
More trimming than ever is being used on evening gowns. Very gorgeous effects are suggested by strass and crystal bead embroidery.

Broiled Fish

Remove to hot platter, garnish with parsley, sprinkle with salt and pepper and pour over a little melted butter. Serve with scalloped potatoes.

Halibut steaks are broiled the same way cod steaks are. Or halibut may be cut in a thick slice, two or three inches thick, and baked with milk. This is a nice fish dish for company.

HALIBUT BAKED WITH MILK
Four-pound cut halibut, ¼ cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon buttered bread crumbs, rich white sauce, lemon.

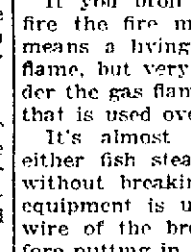

Scrape skin of fish, dipping first in boiling water. Wipe dry. Rub with salt and pepper and put in baking pan. Pour in the milk. Bake until the fish loosens and pulls away from the bone. Baste often with the milk in the pan.

It will take about an hour to bake a four-pound cut of halibut. Remove skin and lift out the bone. Fill the cavity left by the bone with bread crumbs moistened with rich white sauce. Sprinkle the surface of the fish with the remaining crumbs, dot with bits of butter and put in a hot oven to brown. Serve with white sauce in which slice of the hard boiled eggs have been heated.

Or the crumbs may be eliminated and the fish garnished with slices of egg and lemon and served with drawn butter.

BROILED SHAD
This is considered one of the finest of fish.

Have a three-pound shad cleaned and split. Put in a well oiled broiler, sprinkle with salt and pepper and broil first on the flesh side and then on the skin side. It will take about 25 minutes. Remove from broiler to hot platter, spread with butter and garnish with sprigs of parsley and slices of lemon. Serve at once.

If you broil over a wood or coal fire the fire must be "clear." This means a living bed of coals without flame, but very hot. If you broil under the gas flame use the same broiler that is used over a fire.

It's almost impossible to turn either fish steaks or small split fish without breaking if the regular gas equipment is used. Always rub the wire of the broiler well with oil before putting in the fish.

BROILED FRESH COD STEAKS
Have the steaks cut from one-half to three-fourths of an inch thick. Wash in cold water and dry between towels. Put in an oiled broiler and broil 10 minutes on one side, turn and broil 10 minutes on the other side.

Remove from broiler to a hot platter, sprinkle with salt and pepper and spread lightly with butter. Garnish with slices of lemon and serve. The fish divided in large dry flakes and is most delicious.

BROILED BLUE FISH
Split fish down the middle and let stand in strong salt water for 15 minutes. Drain and dry between towels. Put in a well oiled broiler and broil first on the flesh side, then turn and broil on the skin side. Broil about 20 minutes.

Polly and Paul--and Paris

Chapter 77—Goodbye Cubbyflat

BY ZOE BECKLEY

Polly and Paul stood in the living room shorn now of its personal touches, and with trunks sitting around with that solemn expression that closed and strapped trunks have. They were to sail next day on "La France."

"How I hate to leave it dear," Polly was saying with a little tender smile. "Yet I want to go home."

"We'll come back, Hon! I'll be president of Sims & Brady, or something, and we'll have a swell hutch out at Maison Lafitte, all full of gardens and garages and guestrooms and— and governesses."

Polly's voice lost its minor note and she was gay again. "I don't know why it should, but that reminds me—I went to see Violet today. She's all right again—and happy as anything over her engagement to Barry."

"Wonderful how you two girls got together on the reconciliation. A couple of men in the same circumstances would have got all muddled up in a lot of logical explanations and fine speeches. All you do is give one another the sentimental look and fall into a clench, like the movies."

Paul's elegant comments were broken in upon by a thumping at the door. Before them stood Norma Brady and Sutton. Norma's manner was more exuberant than ever.

"Notice anything?" she beamed. "Simply heavenly," said Polly. "What a lovely frock—and what a delicious shade of mauve-gray! Norma, you look exactly like a bride." "Guessed it the first time! Bobby here is a trifle bashful, but I'm so proud I dragged him straight from the mayor's office to show off. We'd have eloped a month ago if it hadn't been impossible owing to the French law. Got to have banns published for 11 days, and everything. Bob and I have been digging up birth certificates, family records, affidavits, passports, writs and licenses for weeks! Take it from me, brethren, getting married in France is some job even after you've hooked your man."

And so the last evening in the cubbyflat was gay and happy. They toasted one another, and the cubbyflat, and "La Belle France," and "The Good Old U. S. A.," and everything and everybody they could think of. And they swore eternal reunions and everlasting friendships and good lucks and happy returns and bon voyages and all the dear old time honored, heart-warming, loyalities that mellow the spirit and sweeten life.

"It was good to have come," said Polly, "and now that you two are here in the cubbyflat it'll be good to come back."

Women Here Opposed To Law Prohibiting Women From Using Pipe And Fag

Women Agree Smoking is Filthy Habit But They Object to Being "Discriminated Against" —Law Can't Accomplish Anything.

If Appleton women have anything to say about it the bill, which has been introduced into congress by the representative from Mississippi, to prevent women from smoking is doomed to die. They are practically unanimous in the belief that such a law would be showing unfair discrimination. Even Hugh G. Corbett, of the Chamber of Commerce expressed rather firm convictions on the question, saying "If they are going to pass a law prohibiting female men from smoking, they ought to pass one prohibiting male men from doing it too."

At first Mrs. Charles Reineck said that she was emphatically in favor of such a law, but after considering the matter a moment she decided that it would be an infringement of personal liberty, and that, although women ought not to want to smoke, they ought not to be prohibited from doing it if they want to.

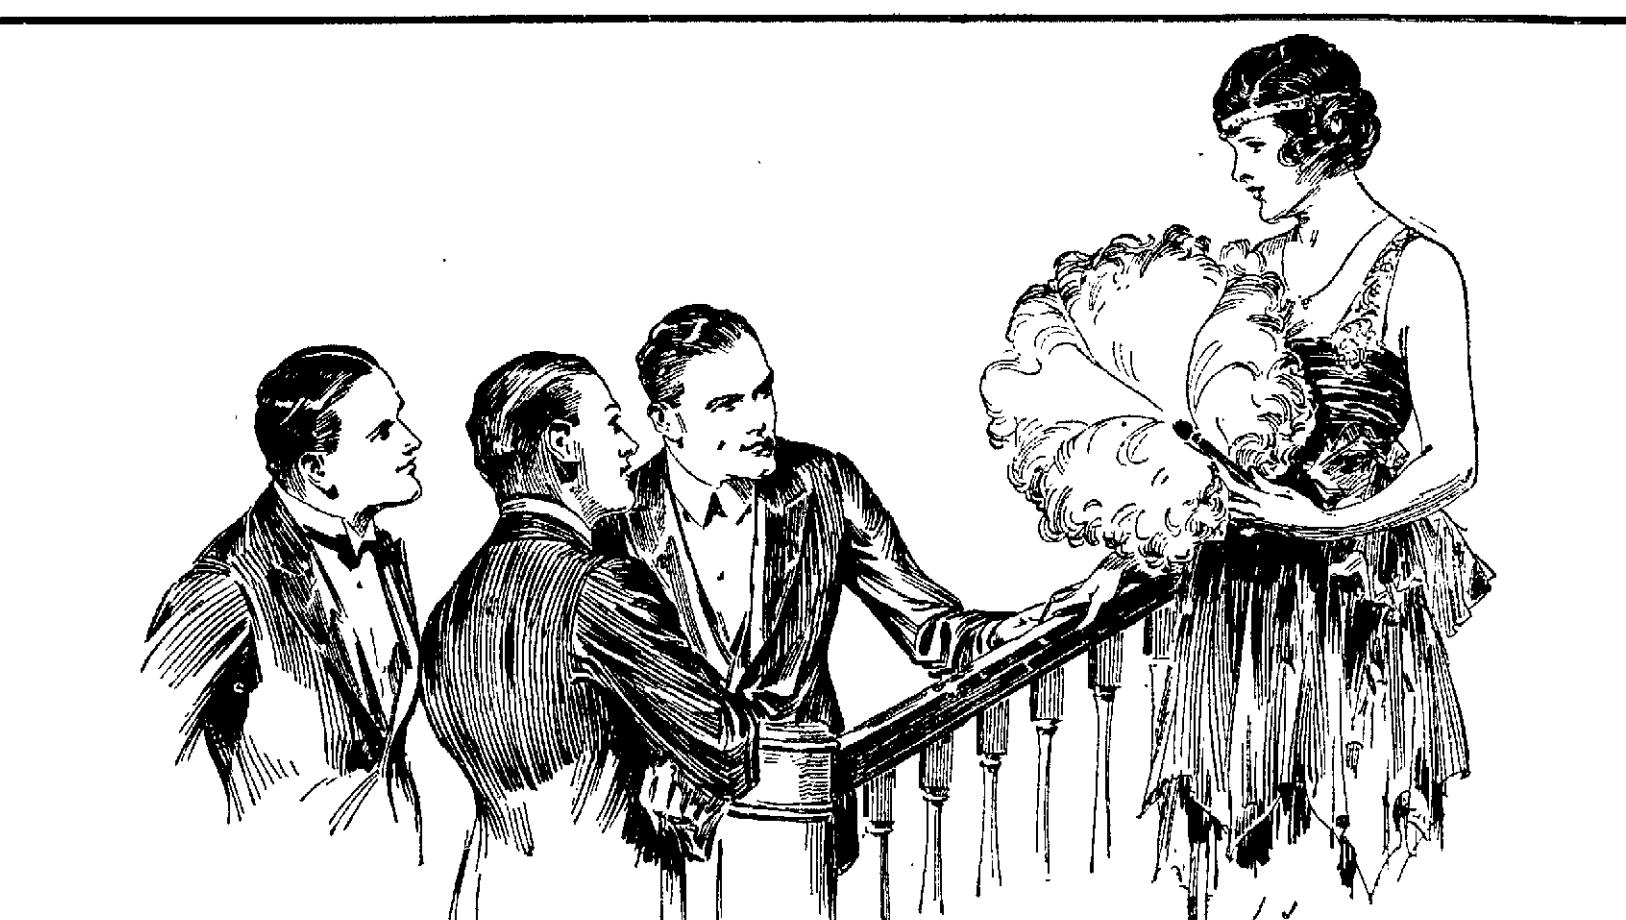

TOO MUCH LAW
Miss Muriel Miller, a college girl, was interested in the proposition, and wanted to hear about it from the beginning. When she learned that Representative Johnson objected to ladies smoking because it is a filthy, degrading habit, Miss Miller said, "Why there are other filthy habits, such as not taking a bath, for instance, but they can't hope to regulate that by laws. What do they expect to accomplish anyway?"

Some of the girls interviewed were of the opinion that such a law could not be enforced. Miss Mable Sibley, at the Chamber of Commerce, while she is decidedly opposed to girls smoking, did not believe that it would do any good to pass such a law. She thinks the custom has become so well established in the cities that no mere law can do away with it.

The opinion of Mrs. N. P. Mills is of especial interest since she was formerly a trained nurse. She said: "If it is wrong for women to smoke it is wrong for men to smoke, and if the privilege of using their own judgment in the matter is taken away from one, it ought to be taken from the other." She thinks it is degrading for women to smoke, as does the man from Mississippi, and that it takes away much of woman's daintiness, but she does not believe that a double standard should be maintained in such things.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hegner have returned from Clintonville, where they attended the golden wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Spierbreaker.

The Happiest Time of Her Life

Admiration, attention—groups of eager young men awaiting her appearance and more partners than she can dance with—this makes girlhood days the happiest time of a woman's life.

To miss this popularity is a tragedy. Yet many girls are socially unsuccessful because of some lack in charm.

What constitutes this charm is hard to define—but one thing is certain. The popular girl, the successful girl, the gay, happy, all-admired girl, is always distinguished by a fresh, radiant skin.

How to have this perfect complexion is the problem of many girls, but we can solve it for you. It's a simple secret, discovered many thousand years ago.

What spoils complexions

Every day your skin accumulates a coating of dust, dirt and general soil. Every day you apply powder, and every day most women use a little or much cold cream.

This dirt, powder and cold cream penetrates the tiny skin pores and fills them. Perspiration completes the clogging. You can judge for yourself what happens if you fail to wash these accumulations away.

Once a day your skin needs careful, thorough cleansing to remove these clogging deposits. Otherwise you will soon be afflicted with coarseness, blackheads and blotches.

How soap beautifies

Mild, pure, soothing soap, such as Palmolive, is a simple yet certain beautifier. Its profuse, creamy lather penetrates the network of skin pores and dissolves all dangerous deposits. Gentle rinsing carries them away.

Cleopatra's way
With all classic peoples, bathing was a daily rite never neglected. The ruins of Cleopatra's sumptuous marble bath are ample proof of her faith in this ancient beauty secret.

Palm and olive oils were the cleansers used—the same bland oriental oils we blend scientifically in Palmolive. The lotion-like qualities which made them the most highly prized of all old world beautifiers are imparted to Palmolive Soap.

A 10-cent luxury

The vast volume in which we produce Palmolive to supply the world's demand naturally lowers cost. It made in small quantities the price would be at least 25 cents. Manufacturing economy permits us to offer this finest facial soap for only 10 cents.

Thus you can afford to share Cleopatra's favorite luxury. Use Palmolive for bathing and let it do for your body what it does for her face.

MRS. GREEN WEAK AND FRAIL

Tells How Vinol Built Her Up And Increased Her Weight

MRS. S. V. GREEN
READ HER LETTER

Emporia, Kansas.—"Bronchitis left me in a weak, run-down condition so I was too weak and frail to do my work—I took all kinds of cough syrups and tonics but did not seem to gain. One day I read about Vinol and tried it. I commenced to improve. It gave me a good appetite, it built up my wasted tissues. I gained in weight and it strengthened and toned me up generally."—Mrs. S. V. Green, 2 South State Street, Emporia, Kansas.

The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because it contains the curative tissue building elements of fresh cod's livers, (without oil), together with the blood making and strength creating properties of Iron and Beef Peptones which makes Vinol without a peer for overcoming frail, weak run-down conditions. $1.00 per bottle, guaranteed. Abundant vitamin now contained in small yeast tablet

Yeast Foam Tablets are from 4 to 5 times as concentrated as the ordinary baking yeast. The necessary vitamin potency, therefore, is contained in a much smaller dose.

"CONGRATULATE YOU," writes a well-known physician, "on your new therapeutic yeast. I am sure it will be welcomed by the medical profession and by thousands of people who disliked eating such large quantities of fermentative baking yeast—as well as by countless others who sought in vain for any appreciable tonic benefits in many drug-laden and untested 'vitamin' preparations."

This yeast supplies what modern foods lack

Yeast Foam Tablets correct a serious deficiency in present day diet by supplying the essential vitamin which is found in many raw foods but which is completely eliminated, in many cases, by the time these same foods reach our table.

This vitamin is necessary to digestion and the conversion of foods into healthy tissue and bodily vigor.

Without sufficient quantity of vitamin your body goes sick and you are only aware of it in such signs as loss of appetite, failing strength and endurance, nervousness, sallow skin and other definite signals of vitamin starvation.

Yeast richest source of vitamin

In the yeast plant is an abundant store of this indispensable vitamin and in Yeast Foam Tablets there is nothing but pure whole yeast (saccharomyces cerevisiae)—millions of these tiny plants being concentrated in each tablet.

The vitamin potency of this new yeast is therefore high and, consequently, its tonic and reconstructive properties are most unusual.

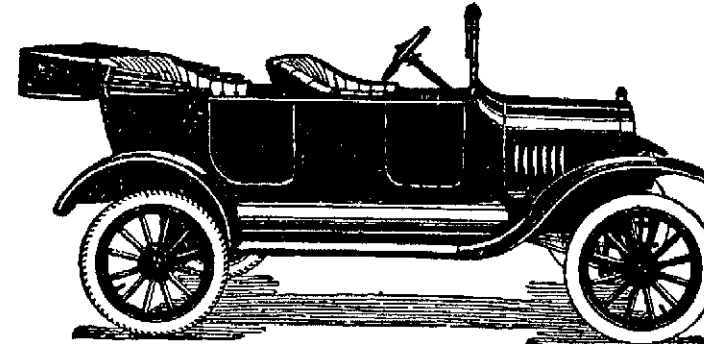

Yeast Foam Tablets are made by the world's largest manufacturers of dry yeast, the makers for 45 years of the famous baking yeasts, Yeast Foam and Magic Yeast.

They are the result of two years of experiment conducted under the guidance of some of the country's leading medical scientists. Recommended by physicians and sold by druggists everywhere.

USE AUTOS SOON IN RURAL LOCALITIES

Side Roads in Poor Condition
Prevent Many Farmers from Getting Cars Out

Automobile traffic is resuming in the country districts gradually but it will be two weeks more before the roads will be in satisfactory shape for general use.

The concrete roads and most of the patrolled highways are excellent but the side roads which were neglected last season are said to be in bad shape and made worse by the rains of Sunday and Monday.

Many farmers got out their automobiles for the first time Sunday but those who live in remote districts are forced to use horses, because, while the road in front of their own farm may be excellent, the bad stretches of a mile or more between them and the main highways present a barrier which only good weather can overcome.

Highways to the south of Appleton especially in Winnebago-co. are in constant use, probably indicating that more snow fell north of the city. The pavement from Appleton through Neesh to Oshkosh is high and dry all the way and the side roads are drying off rapidly. Most of the snow has disappeared from the fields and the ground is absorbing the water rapidly as the frost disappears.

New Plumbing Shop
Oscar Gmeiner has leased the building on Appleton-st. formerly occupied by J. C. Ryan, now owned by David Breitschneider, and will use it as a plumbing shop. It has been newly fitted up and he will take possession of it early this week.

Walk From Oshkosh
The Misses Catherine Poeholka, Eunice Safford, Anita Simonson and Naomi Safford of Oshkosh, walked to Appleton Sunday. The hike required five hours.

of Duluth

Comedy numbers will feature the program to be given by the Appleton Rotary club Tuesday night at a banquet in the Sherman house dining room in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William Ryerson of Duluth, Minn., and wives of the members of the Appleton club. Mr. Ryerson was chairman of the entertainment committee for the district Rotary club convention, in Duluth in March. He and Mrs. Ryerson will arrive in Appleton Tuesday morning.

A quartet composed of Louis Bonini, F. G. Moyle, A. H. Meyer and G. S. Galpin will sing several selections and present a comedy sketch. Harry Oakes and H. P. Buck also will give a comedy sketch. A. H. Wickesberg, as the spring poet, will read original verses. Wives of the members of the Rotary club will present a sketch which they are keeping secret. L. C. Rasey, president of the Appleton club, and Mr. Ryerson will deliver addresses.

The banquet will be served at 6:30. Special orchestra music will be provided.

C. OF C. LIBRARY FREE TO CITIZENS

Collection of Publications Is Kept on Hand, Containing Latest Data

Literature on many subjects is on file at the chamber of commerce for use of the public. In almost every mail there are pamphlets or books giving the latest thought and developments on big issues, especially where they affect the commercial world.

Secretary Hugh G. Corbett wants this source of reference to be a practical one and will let business men seeking information, students working on talks or debates, or any others desiring special information to make use of the publications.

Data on almost any national or community subject also may be obtained by the chamber through its membership in the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. The latter has a bureau in Washington which devotes its time to collecting and filing information for its members and supplies briefs or books on application.

Foreign trade, treaty ratification, the Russian problem, German commercial developments and other subjects are among those for which information is on hand. One booklet of special value is on "Perpetual Inventories," dealing with the modern method in manufacturing plants of keeping a daily inventory record instead of shutting down a week or two each year to take stock.

Thanks C. of C.
A letter of appreciation has been received by the chamber of commerce from the president of the First Trust and Savings bank, Chicago, for supplying the bank with a copy of the price survey made here last summer. The letter complimented the chamber on the scope of its price investigation.

When You Think of Paint
Think of Patek—

BEGIN HERE TODAY

After eight years of married life, MARK SABRE, realizes that he is neither understood by his prosaic and snobbish wife.

MABEL, nor by his colleagues in the firm of Fortune, East and Sabre. A promised partnership in the business has been denied him and promised to TWYNING, a jealous associate.

Suddenly an old sweetheart, NONA, now the wife of the dashing LORD TYBAR, returns after two years of travel. Mabel becomes jealous of Nona who visits Sabre at his office. Sabre suspects that Nona is not happy with Tybar. In the conversation in the office, Sabre realizes that Nona can give him the sympathy and understanding that he craves.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

Clearly, as it were yesterday, he remembered the day she had declared to him her choice. In the Cathedral choir. Walking together. And suddenly, in the midst of indifferent things, she told him, "I say, Marko, I'm going to marry Lord Tybar."

And his reply, the model of indifference, "Are you, Nona?"

He came upon the picture of himself alone with Nona—alone with her watching her beautiful face -- and saying to her, "Look here, there were three things you said, three expressions you used. Explain them, Nona. Explain 'There' with your glove off. Explain 'Flotsam.' Explain 'Well, I had to come.' Explain them, Nona -- for God's sake."

CHAPTER V

But it was October before he asked her to explain them. The Tybars, as he learnt, when he next met her a week after her visit to the office, were only at Northrepps for a breathing space after their foreign tour. Through the summer they were going the usual social round, ending in Scotland. Back in October for the shooting, and wintering there through the hunting season.

There was the occasion of a little dinner party at Northrepps to which he had come with Mabel. Major Hopscotch Millet and one or two others were among the guests.

Nona came with them to the door on their departure. Sabre was last down the steps. "Well, I shall see you again till October," she said.

"No, till October." He had no more than touched her hand and turned away.

She was close behind him. He crossed her the tiniest little catch at her breath. She said, "Shall I write to you, Marko?"

He turned towards her. She was smiling as though it was a charming remark she had made. Her shield.

And he answered, "Oh, well, I'm bad at letters, you know."

But their eyes met with no shields before them; and she was wounded, for he just caught her voice as he went down the steps. "Oh, Marko, do write to me."

He got into his cab. Major Millet had taken the seat next Mabel.

As the horse turned, Mabel inquired, "What was Lady Tybar talking to you about all that time?"

He said, "Oh, just saying goodby."

But he was thinking. That's a fourth question. Why did you say, "Oh, Marko, do write to me?" Or was that the answer to the other questions, although I never asked them?

CHAPTER VI

A draper occupied the premises opposite Fortune, East and Sabre's. On an October afternoon, just before five o'clock, Sabre saw Nona alight from her car and go into the draper's. He put on his hat and coat and descended into the street. As he crossed the road she came out.

"Hallo, Marko."

"What about having some tea somewhere?"

"I think that's a good idea."

He suggested the Cloister Tea Rooms. She spoke to the chauffeur and accompanied him.

Nona began some account of her summer visitations. Sabre spoke a little of local businesses. But the subjects were but skirmishes thrown out before dense armies of thoughts that massed behind; met, and trifled, and rode away. When pretence of dragging out the meal could no longer be maintained, Nona looked at her watch.

"Well, I must be getting back. We haven't had a particularly enormous tea, but the chauffeur's had none."

Sabre said, "Yes, let's get out of this." It was as though the thing had been a strain.

He put her into the car. She was so very, very quiet. He said, "I've half a mind to drive up with you. I'd like a ride, and a walk back."

II

They were within the gates. It had been a dull day. Evening stood mistily far up the long avenue of the drive and in the distances about the park on either hand. Among October's massing leaves, a small disquieting stirring. The leaves banked orderly between their parent trunks. Sabre noticed as a curious thing how, when they stirred, they only trembled in their massed formations, not broke their ranks, as if some live thing ran beneath them.

He said, "Do you know what this seems to me? It seems as though it was only yesterday, or this morning that you came to see me at the office and we talked. Well, I want it to be only yesterday. I want to go on from there."

She said, "Yes."

He hardly could hear the word. He looked at her. She was as tall as he. Not the least of the contributions to her beauty in his eyes was the slim crossed knees, her hands clasped on them, looking before her across the park.

"I OUGHT TO HAVE MARRIED YOU, MARKO."

"No, you must look at me," he said.

She very slowly turned her body towards him. He thought her most beautiful and the expression of her beautiful face was most terrible to him in all his emotions.

III

She spoke very slowly; almost with a perceptible pause between each word. She said, "Well, I'll tell you. I said, 'Flotsam.' didn't I? If I explain that--you know what flotsam is. Marko. Have you ever looked it up in the dictionary. The dictionary says it's 'temporarily shipwrecked and found floating on the sea.' I'm twenty-eight, Marko. I suppose that--you know what flotsam is, a terrible age to me. You see, you judge age by what you are in contrast with what you were. If you're very happy I think it can't matter how old you are. If you look back to when you were happy and then come to now when you're not, it seems a most terrible and tremendous guilt--and you see yourself just floating away from the happy years and just being taken along, taken along, to God knows where. God knows to what."

She put out the palms of her hands towards where misty evening banked somberly across the park. "That's very frightening, Marko."

"Well, all the time there was you, Marko. In those two years when we were away it got awful. In those two years I knew I was flotsam. One day--in India--I went and looked at it in the little dictionary in my writing case, and I knew I was. Do you know what I did? I crossed out flotsam in the dictionary and wrote Nona. There it was, and it was the most exact thing--Nona: goods shipwrecked and found floating in the sea. I meant to have torn out the page. I forgot. I left it there and Tony saw it."

Sabre said, "What did he say?"

In all she had told him there was something omitted. He knew that his question approached the missing quantity. But she did not answer it. He had desired her to look at him, but it was he who had turned away. He sat with his head between his hands, his elbows on his knees.

She repeated, with rather a plaintive note, as though in his pose she saw some pain she had caused him, "You see, I had known you all my life, Marko."

He said, still looking upon the ground between his feet. "But you haven't explained anything. You've only told me. You haven't explained why."

She said with astounding simplicity, "Well, you see, Marko, I made a mistake. I made a most frightful mistake. I chose. I chose wrong. I ought to have married you, Marko."

And his words were a groan. "No, Nona--"

WHISKY WAS MONEY IN FRANKLIN STATE

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Des Moines, Ia. -- Once upon a time rye whiskey was legal tender in this country. This fact may have interest for the Americans of this Prohibition era. In those days, a citizen of the State of Franklin could buy a good homespun shirt for a jug of rye.

Few today perhaps ever heard of the State of Franklin that was once a candidate for admission to the union of American commonwealths.

In 1772, settlers in East Tennessee organized the Wautoga Association Executive power was vested in a committee of five. A legislature was elected. Court was held. But the dream of the pioneers of establishing a separate colony, with a royal governor was abandoned when the original thirteen colonies entered the War of Independence against England.

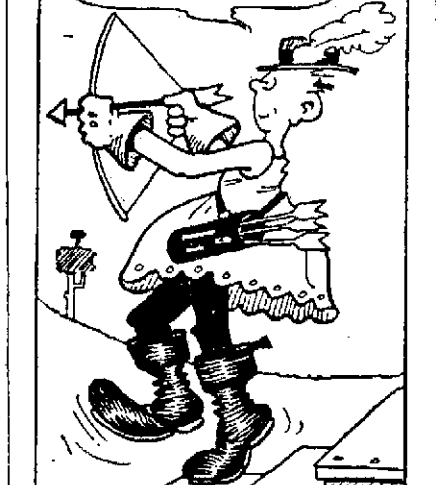

In 1784, the Wautoga settlers met at Jonesborough. John Sevier was State of Franklin. John Sevier was elected governor. Rye whiskey, beaver skins and side bacon were declared the legal money of the new commonwealth. Congress, however, refused to recognize the state and the territory eventually reverted to North Carolina.

When John Sevier governed the State of Franklin, all the country west of the Alleghenies was wilderness and Daniel Boone was fighting Indians in Kentucky. Sevier is one of the great figures in the pioneer history of the region and later was the first governor of Tennessee which was admitted to the union in 1796.

BIGGER SALARY OFFERS LURING TEACHERS AWAY

The winter term was to open Jan. 8 and close March 30, and the spring term was to open April 9 and close June 9.

It was brought out by Lee C. Rasey, principal, that many students leave school the week preceding Christmas to work in stores during the holiday trade and he suggested the school close Dec. 15 and open a week earlier after the holidays.

The calendar finally adopted: Fall term commences Sept. 5 and closes Dec. 15; winter term commences Jan. 2 and closes March 23; spring term commences April 2 and closes June 1.

Commencement exercises will be held the first of commencement week this year instead of the latter part of it as has been the custom for nearly a generation. The order of the usual program, class play, class day and commencement, was changed in order to accommodate Lee C. Rasey, who expects to leave early commencement week for Los Angeles, Calif., as a delegate to the national convention of Rotarians.

WANT CLASS PLAY
Because of the extra amount of work for both teachers and students during the closing week of school, a member of the board suggested that the class play be dispensed with but this did not meet with the approval of the principal who said it was the only opportunity the class had of earning funds for the memorial which the retiring class presents to the school.

In order to do away with an embarrassing position in which the committee on teachers and text is often placed during the school year by teachers requesting to be released from their contracts upon receiving more remunerative offers elsewhere, this resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, That the committee on teachers and text is hereby authorized during the coming year to make adjustment in salary schedules, to engage such new teachers as it deems necessary, and to release such teachers from their contracts as it sees fit."

MAX DROP INSTRUCTOR
In order to dispense with the expense of furnishing an extra room in the Third ward school building for the use of the school for deaf it was decided the coming year to drop the temporary instructor employed last January unless the attendance at the opening of school next fall should demand the services of three instructors.

It was expected those in charge of the school survey recently made would make their report, but owing to the fact that certain members had written from the state superintendent's office for further information relative to certain matters the report will not be forthcoming until a later meeting when it will be made in person.

Bills amounting to $1,503.23 were allowed. The trustee officer reported having investigated 29 cases during the preceding month.

100 BOYS ATTEND ANNUAL BANQUET

Addresses, Songs, and Yells Entertain Meeting for Young People

More than 100 boys attended the annual banquet for members of the Y. M. C. A. boys department Monday night in the Y. M. C. A. banquet room. The boys sat at the tables with members of their groups. The room was decorated with group banners and streamers.

W. S. Ford, chairman of boys work committee, presided. Addresses were delivered by W. H. Wones of Milwaukee, state boys work secretary, and F. J. Harwood, president of the Appleton Y. M. C. A. Harry Parton and Irving Nickash of the employed boys group sang several selections. Members of the different groups gave their yells and Dave Bender led the boys in giving department cheers.

Arrangements for the banquet were in charge of J. R. Dennison, boys work secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

FIRE ALARM SYSTEM IS IN WORKING ORDER AGAIN

Appleton's fire alarm system is back in working order after an extensive amount of work by Fred Pilegel, city electrician, and a corps of helpers, following the breaking down of the lines by the fleet storms. The lines have been fixed permanently except for two boxes, where it is necessary to wait until other companies have made repairs to wires. Temporary wires have been strung from two stations so they may be used. Completion of this work makes it unnecessary to depend entirely on the telephone to summon the fire department, and is an aid to manufacturing plants which have call boxes in various departments.

Auto Dealers Meet
Appleton automobile dealers met for luncheon Monday noon at Hotel Appleton. Topics of interest to the automobile men were discussed after the luncheon.

COLLEGE DEBATORS MAKE HIT IN WEST

Mrs. Emma Giffin Stevens, a former Lawrence student, is one of the many Lawrence alumni who, having heard the Lawrence debate team on its western trip, has written to compliment the college on the splendid showing which the boys made. Mrs. Stevens' home is in Colorado Springs and she was present at the last debate of the trip. She wrote to Miss Zelia Anne Smith telling her of the good impression the team made there for Lawrence.

Dr. Samuel Plantz, president of the college, congratulated the team for the student body in the chapel on Monday morning. He said that the team certainly has come home with victory perched on its banner. The team which is composed of Alfred Root and Karl Trevor, both of Appleton, and Karl Windeshelm of Kenosha, has returned from a four debate tour in the west in which the Lawrence men won all four debates. Prof. F. W. Orr accompanied the team on the trip which was successful beyond all expectations.

DIAMOND SPORT NOW INTERESTS APPLETON FANS

Brandt to Have Fast Club in Fox River Valley Baseball League

With the Lewis-Hill world's cham-pionship wrestling match out of the way and the state bowling tourna-ment for Elks in history, Appleton sport enthusiasts are beginning to turn their attention to baseball. This city will be represented by a strong team in the Fox River Valley league and one that will be in the running for the pennant from the first game on May 14 to the final clash on Sept. 3.

August Brandt, manager of the Ap-pleton club, is lining up a fast out-fit. He is not announcing the names of his players until their signed con-tracts are received but said he will put a team in the race that will be much stronger than the aggregation that were the Appleton uniforms last season.

SCHULTZ TO PITCH
The contract of Henry Schultz who performed on the firing line for Ap-pleton last season has been received and the Milwaukee slab artist will bear the brunt of the pitching burden this year. Joe Schott, who worked behind the leg for the local club last season, was sent in his contract and will receive Schultz's slants.

Manager Brandt expects to have his team lined up in a few days. He is looking for a number of contracts to be sent in early this week and will soon be able to announce the names of the players on the club roll.

Directors of the Fox River Valley league will get together in Oshkosh this week to iron out schedule difficul-ties. It is expected that a playing chart will be completed at the meet-ing.

HIGH CLASS BALL
Club owners throughout the circuit are getting their teams well lined up and from the caliber of men already signed to contracts fans in Appleton-Fond du Lac and Oshkosh will see high class baseball during the 1922 season.

HOPPE IS THROUGH WITH CUE BATTLES
Former Champion of 18.2 Game
Says He Is Going Into
Other Business

St. Louis, Mo.—Willie Hoppe, for-mer 18.2 headline billiard champion, announced his retirement from active participation in billiards here Satur-day night.

Hoppe holds the 14.2 and 18.1 titles. Hoppe, in a statement, said he will leave for New York for an indefinite vacation.

"I have future plans but will not announce them until they are con-sulted," he said.

He tried to wrest the 18.2 cham-pionship this week from young Jake Schaefer, but lost in a sensational and close contest.

"Commercialism and the utterly un-just manner in which championship play has been conducted in past years by the concern which controls it, has driven Hoppe into retirement," R. B. Benjamin, manager of Hoppe, said.

Benjamin stated Hoppe's defeat by Schaefer did not prompt him to retire. Hoppe quit the game after a decade of titular matches and exhibitions.

Little Rock—Shift in the infield of the New York Yanks is expected. Baker probably will be benched. Ward will replace him at third and McNally will play second.

Big Eaters Get Kidney Trouble
Take Salts At First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trou-ble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the elim-inative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a table-spoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This fam-ous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for genera-tions to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of ir-ritation, thus ending bladder disor-ders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot in-jure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

WHO IS GREATEST PLAYER IN GAME?

Experts Disagree Over Whether Ruth or Hornsby Are Entitled to Palm

By United Press Leaser Wire
New York—Most any manager on the big time would give half his team and the grandstand for Babe Ruth but they don't all agree that he is the greatest player in the game.

If Rogers Hornsby and the swat king were both in the American league there would be some excite-ment over awarding that thousand dollar prize that Ban Johnson has put up for the most valuable player.

When it comes to parking them in the parks and laying the foundation for dividends there is no doubt that Ruth is not only the greatest today but the greatest ever.

"When it is a matter of real value to a team, of real all around service, some of the wisest baseball minds differ.

"If I wanted a colorful player who could draw them in every day at the gate, I would take Ruth. If I had to choose a real ballplayer to make a team I would select Rogers Hornsby as the greatest player in baseball."

John McGraw of the New York Giants said.

McGraw is generally regarded as the greatest manager in the game and one of the smartest baseball men of all times.

Branch Rickey says he would not give up Hornsby for a couple of Ruths. Uncle Wilbert Robinson, al-so credited with knowing a few things about baseball, says he would rather have Hornsby on his Brooklyn team.

Others straddle the issue.

HEAD STUFFED
BY CATARRH? USE A HEALING CREAM

If your nostrils are clogged, your throat distressed, or your head is stuffed by nasty catarrh or a cold, ap-ply a little pure, antiseptic, germ de-stroying cream into your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage, soothing, inflamed, swollen mem-branes and you get instant relief.

How good it feels. Your nostrils are open. Your head is clear. No more hawking, snuffling, dryness or strug-gling for breath. Get a small bottle of Lily's Cream Balm from any drug-gist. Colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed up. Relief is sure.

More Than One Million Maples Scored In Meet

Here is one for the book.

Some time during the night a bowl-ing fan slipped a handful of figures under the door of The Post-Crescent office. He has the total number of pins that fell during the state tourna-ment for Elks all figured out. His figures are like this:

The average score per single game during the meet was 157 and 1,097 maple busters rolled for the prizes. Each man shot nine games for a total average of 1,422 pins. Multiplying 1,097 by 1,422 make 1,457,090, which, he figures, is the total number of pins that fell during the classic.

Dyersburg, Tenn.—The Red Sox turned in their sixth straight victory defeating the Minneapolis Millers 5 to 2.
